1. INTRODUCTION

Section 15 of the Promotion of Access to information Act, 2000 stipulates that “the Information Officer of a public body, referred to in paragraph (a) or (b)(i) of the definition of public body in section 1, must, on a periodic basis not less frequently than once each year, submit to the Minister a description of-

- (a) The categories of records of the public body that are automatically available without a person having to request access in terms of this Act, including such categories available-
  - i. for inspection in terms of legislation other than this Act
  - ii. for purchase or copying from the body; and
  - iii. from the body free of charge.

- (b) How to obtain access to records

The Public Service Commission (PSC) / Office of the Public Service Commission (OPSC)'s updated section 15 Notice is in compliance with the provision of section 15 (2) of the Promotion of Access to Information Act 2000. The PSC/OPSC's Section 15 Notice gives access to records that are automatically available.

This record is issued in terms of the Protection of Personal Information Act, 2013 (POPI Act).

2. CONSTITUTIONAL MANDATE OF THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

The Public Service Commission (PSC) is an independent institution established in terms of Chapter 10 of the Constitution. It derives its mandate from sections 195 and 196 of the Constitution, 1996, which sets out the values and principles governing public administration, which should be promoted by the PSC, as well as the powers and functions of the PSC. The PSC is required by the Constitution to exercise its powers and to perform its functions without fear, favour or prejudice. The Constitution links the PSC's independence firmly with its impartiality and no organ of state may interfere with the functioning of the PSC.

The PSC is vested with custodial oversight responsibilities for the Public Service and monitors, evaluates and investigates public administration practices. It also has the power to give recommendation or directions aimed at ensuring that personnel procedures relating to recruitment, transfers, promotions and dismissals comply with the values and principles in Section 195 of the Constitution.

The PSC is accountable to the National Assembly and must annually report to the National Assembly on its activities and performance, and to provincial legislatures on its activities in a province.

2.1 Functions and powers of the PSC

In terms of Section 196 (4) of the Constitution, 1996, the functions and powers of the PSC are:

- a. to promote the values and principles set out in Section 195, throughout the Public Service;
- b. to investigate, monitor and evaluate the organisation and administration, and the personnel practices of the Public Service;
- c. to propose measures to ensure effective and efficient performance within the Public Service;
- d. to give directions aimed at ensuring that personnel procedures relating to recruitment, transfers, promotions and dismissals comply with the values and principles set out in section 195;
- e. to report in respect of its activities and the performance of its functions, including any findings it may make and directions and advice it may give, and to provide an evaluation of the extent to which the values and principles set out in section 195 are complied with;
- f. either of its own accord, or on receipt of any complaint-
  - i. to investigate and evaluate the application of personnel and public administration practices and to report to the relevant executive authority and legislature;
  - ii. to investigate grievances of employees in the Public Service concerning official acts or omissions and to recommend appropriate remedies;
  - iii. to monitor and investigate adherence to applicable procedures in the Public Service; and
  - iv. to advise national and provincial organs of state regarding personnel practices in the Public Service, including those relating to the recruitment, appointment, transfer, discharge and other aspects of the careers of employees in the Public Service; and
- g. to exercise or perform the additional powers or functions prescribed by an Act of Parliament.

2.2 Key Performance Areas

The work of the PSC is structured around the following six key performance areas:

- 2.2.1. Labour relations improvement.
- 2.2.2. Leadership and human resource reviews.

- 2.2.3. Governance monitoring.
- 2.2.4. Service delivery and compliance evaluation.
- 2.2.5. Public administration investigations.
- 2.2.6. Professional ethics.

3. STRUCTURE OF THE PSC

3.2 Organizational Structure

The organizational structure of the PSC/OPSC is designed according to its key performance areas and its activities are organized in the following programmes:

The Constitution stipulates that there is a single Public Service Commission (PSC) for the Republic, consisting of 14 Commissioners. Five of which are appointed by the President on the recommendation of the National Assembly for the National Office. One member is appointed from each of the nine provinces, upon the nomination by the Premier of the province on the recommendation of a committee of the Provincial Legislature.

A Commissioner is appointed for a term of five years, which is renewable for one additional term. The PSC is headed by a Chairperson, who also serves as the Executive Authority of the Office of the Public Service Commission. The Chairperson is appointed by the President from the nominated Commissioners. The President appoints and designates a Deputy Chairperson of the Public Service Commission.

The PSC is accountable to the National Assembly and must annually report to the National Assembly on its activities and performance, and to provincial legislatures on its activities in a province.

The PSC is supported by the Office of the Public Service Commission (OPSC), with its Head Office in Pretoria and provincial offices in each province. A Director-General, who also serves as the Accounting Officer and reports to the PSC Chairperson, heads the OPSC.

The staff members of the OPSC are appointed in terms of the Public Service Act of 1994.

The OPSC's Programme structure is as follows:

Programme 1: Administration

The programme provides overall management of the PSC and centralised support services.

The programme is divided into the following three sub-programmes:

Programme 2: Leadership and Management Practices

The programme promotes sound Public Service leadership, human resource management, labour relations and labour practices.

The programme is divided into the following two sub-programmes:

- Labour Relations Improvement
- Leadership and Human Resource Reviews.

Programme 3: Monitoring and Evaluation

The programme is responsible for establishing a high standard of service delivery, monitoring and good governance in the Public Service.

The programme is divided into the following two sub-programmes:

- Governance Monitoring
- Service Delivery and Compliance Evaluations.

Programme 4: Integrity and Anti-Corruption

The programme is responsible for undertaking public administration investigations, promoting a high standard of professional ethical conduct amongst public servants and contributing to the prevention and combating of corruption.

The programme is divided into the following two sub-programmes:

- Public Administration Investigations
- Professional Ethics.
